Story Building Series

Hi I'm Cassandra Webb, a picture book author living down the south coast of Australia. I want to share my knowledge on how to write picture books to encourage young writers to create their best stories. Kath Unsworth is an artist/illustrator also on the Far South Coast, together we hope to create engaging work sheets and useful writing tips to help students learn writing skills in a playful environment.

We hope to inspire young writers through the adventures of Doug the Bug to enjoy the process. Our step by step guide, including writing tips, work sheets and keepsake templates will engage students to visualize and hopefully assist in getting those story ideas onto the page.

This will be a monthly newsletter with helpful prompts/ideas for you or your students to create a picture book. Cas will share the process that she used to write her own published picture books and break them down into twelve lessons to help students to achieve their goals. Kath will be following along with her character Doug who is learning to write a story.

Each month we will have a guest author who will share some of their writing tips. We hope you and your students get plenty of inspiration from these work sheets.

Please feel free to hit the reply button and share your experience with us.

Lets have some fun!

Hi my name is Doug the bug, I want to write a story! Maybe we can do this together?
